Arraignment is a formal reading of a criminal charging document in the presence of the defendant. In response to arraignment, the defendant is expected to enter a plea. Acceptable pleas vary among jurisdiction but generally include peremptory (setting out reasons why a trial cannot proceed), not guilty, guilty, the Alford (a type of guilty plea where the defendant asserts innocence but ...

Arraignment - Wikipedia

Parole is a temporary release of a prisoner who agrees to certain conditions before the completion of the maximum sentence period, originating from the French parole ("voice, spoken words" but also "promise"). The term became associated during the Middle Ages with the release of prisoners who gave their word.. This differs greatly from amnesty or commutation of sentence in that parolees are ...
