Evidence-based studies indicate that longevity is based on two major factors, genetics and lifestyle choices. Genetics. Twin studies have estimated that approximately 20-30% the variation in human lifespan can be related to genetics, with the rest due to individual behaviors and environmental factors which can be modified. Although over 200 gene variants have been associated with longevity ...

Development before birth, or prenatal development (from Latin natalis, meaning 'relating to birth') is the process in which a zygote, and later an embryo and then a fetus develops during gestation. Prenatal development starts with fertilization and the formation of the zygote, the first stage in embryogenesis which continues in fetal development until birth.
